

Qualification review – National Certificate in Electronics Technology [Level 3] [Ref: 1005]

March 2008

As the National Standard Setting Body for Electronics Technology ETITO is required to review the existing qualifications and standards to ensure they remain current and or fit for purpose.

ETITO works in partnership with industry to carry out such review processes.

We have commenced with the review/development process for the National Certificate in Electronics Technology (Level 3) [Ref: 1005] and associated unit standards that sit within this particular qualification.

ETITO is now seeking feedback from people who would like to comment on the draft qualification and unit standards thereby contributing their knowledge and expertise to help inform the shape and content of the qualification. By participating you will take an active part in ensuring the continuing relevance for the training packages for this sector.

If you would like to comment on the draft qualification and unit standards please email Lindy Martins at lindym@etito.co.nz and they will be made available to you once drafts have been prepared.
